EGYPT-UN: Resolution on NPT at General Assembly

Egypt is considering the introduction of a resolution at the UN General Assembly taking note of the unanimous endorsement of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty by the recent Review Conference held in Geneva. the Egyptians do not feel strongly about the proposal, but, if they do present it, they want it adopted by consensus. The Egyptian Ambassador to the UN presided over the Review Conference.

Comment: The introduction of this resolution at the UN would again focus attention on contentious issues that arose in Geneva—some of which required arduous, last-minute negotiations to resolve. The decision on whether to offer the resolution will be vexing for Cairo. Egypt would welcome the opportunity to highlight the role of its Ambassador in the success of the NPT Review Conference but recognizes the possibility that failure to achieve consensus on such a resolution at the UN could undercut the results of the conference.
